MR. TILDEN AS TRUSTEE.

[From the N. Y. Times.]

Mr. Tilden professes to seek the Presidency on high moral grounds. He regards it as a solemn trust, and promises to interpret its obligations broadly and conscientiously.

The proceedings instituted by the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad Company against Mr. Tilden and others are, in effect, an impeachment of their integrity in a fiduciary capacity. Technically they may not have been trustees. In their reply to the bill filed by the complainant, they describe themselves as agents. Morally speaking, however, an agent is a Trustee; he acts in behalf of others, is bound by duty to protect their interests, and is required to render an account of his transactions and to confine his gains within the stipulations of his agreement. The functions assumed by Mr. Tilden and his co-defendants come within the category; and the manner in which he fulfilled them taken in conjunction with the manner in which he attempts to justify his action, may help the country to appreciate the value of his protestations as a reformer and his fitness for the larger trusteeship to which he aspires.

The allegation is that Mr. Tilden and his fellow agents or trustees profited corruptly and unlawfully by the reorganization of bankrupt railroads, which resulted in the present St. Louis, Alton, and Terre Haute Railroad Company. The process is familiar enough. There were two railroads in default, with a prospect of foreclosure by the holders of the first mortgage bonds, which would have left nothing available for other creditors or for the stockholders. Compromises were agreed upon. The roads were put up for sale, were bought by Tilden and his colleagues, nominally as individuals, really as agents, and the reorganized corporation which followed issued bonds and stocks of different basis by the holders of the original securities, by the original shareholders, and the creditors generally. There were difficulties to overcome, of course, and professional skill and ability were called into requisition to bring the scheme to a successful issue. For these services the reorganized company paid, and no further claim was preferred against it on account of them. Mr. Tilden, for example, was paid $20,000 "in full" for his services as counsel and agent, and it does not appear that he complained of its inadequacy. The others were paid proportionately, and were also satisfied.—So far the transaction was regular and clean. A suspicion subsequently arose that Mr. Tilden and his colleagues had issued bonds and stock in excess of the amounts authorized by the agreements and instructions under which they had acted, and had personally profited by the over-issue. The company's management, however, was controlled by their friends, and independent investigation could not be had. So the matter stood many years.—Very recently new directors were installed and an examination of the books then revealed the facts in respect of the perversion of trust which are at the bottom of the suit now pending.

The amounts of bonds and stocks provided for in the plan of reorganization were sufficient to cover all the obligations of the defaulting companies. The amounts issued in excess form a total of three quarters of a million, and are thus classified: First mortgage bonds, $154,000; second mortgage bonds, $130,000; preferred stock, $131,000 common stock, $300,000. This total of $775,000 is a burden from which the company cannot escape. The proceeds of these bonds and shares are not accounted for in the scheme of reorganization; they were not required for its purposes, and the reorganized company asserts that it derived no benefit from them. They passed into the pockets of Mr. Tilden and his co-agents, and the suit is brought to compel a refunding of what never lawfully belonged to them.

Mr. Tilden's unwillingness to meet the complaint has been made apparent by the hinderances he has interposed to the more rapid progress of the suit. The answer he has put in, now that further delay is impossible, must be accepted as the best he can make. That it is his own handiwork we know on the authority of the World. What then, does it amount to? We have read and re-read it carefully and the impression it leaves is fatal to Mr. Tilden's integrity.

An honest man accused of using his professional opportunities for his own enrichment at the expense of his client, would meet the accusation squarely. If he and three others were wrongly charged with appropriating to their own use the proceeds of bonds and stocks whose par value is $750,000—whose present cash value, according to Mr. Tilden's showing is $600,000—he would do one of two things. Either he would prove by detailed statements that no such over issue took place, or he would show by the books of the company that it derived full benefit from whatever sums the securities at the time realized. Mr. Tilden does neither. On the contrary he admits the issue to the extent alleged, and pleads that he and his colleagues might have made it larger had they chosen. He does not attempt to trace one dollar of the proceeds into the company's treasury. In effect, indeed, he concedes that the whole was absorbed by himself and the other defendants, and he strives by feeble reiteration to show that they were entitled to it. For what? Take Mr. Tilden's own answer: "For indemnity against liabilities and litigations, expenses of every nature, and compensation for all services," and so forth. But the reorganized company met its own expenses, and "all services" had already been provided for on a scale which had apparently satisfied those concerned. For all practical purposes, then, the allegation in regard to the misappropriation of the company's money is conceded by Mr. Tilden. Whether the transaction was technically fraudulent the courts must decide. That, morally speaking, it was a scandalous abuse of trust, and one that disentitles its chief perpetrator to confidence in any form, no man who studies the company's case and Mr. Tilden's answer can reasonably doubt.

The answer is rendered particularly disgraceful by its audacious denial of any claim to redress which the victimized bondholders and stockholders may urge against these unfaithful Trustees. The pretense that the right to any remedy has expired by lapse of time, is impudent enough, seeing that through all the years the parties in control of the company's affairs persistently stifled investigation. Who but a knave would plead the statute of limitation as a shelter for his crimes? Mr. Tilden does more. He objects to any review of his transactions, "under any pretext," as an intolerable wrong, if his victims are to be his reviewers. The whole drift of this portion of Mr. Tilden's ponderous document is a denial of that moral accountability which exists as between agent and principal, and which is of the very essence of trusteeship.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Lewiston Journal says bricks sell this season at $5 per thousand. Probably six or seven millions will be made by our makers this season. Mr. Dunn of Auburn, will make a million and a half. The Franklin Company will probably make nearly a million and a quarter.

Kennebec.

The Journal says the other day, William Berry of Sidney, came near putting an end to his life that had become miserable on account of the suspected infidelity of his spouse.

The town meeting of the voters of Windsor, was held on Saturday; it was one of the largest meetings ever held in the place to consider town affairs, and it was voted to employ able counsel to advise in regard to taking legal steps towards collecting from the former town officers the amount of the defalcation. The citizens of the place are indignant concerning the conduct of the democratic officials.

Twelve hundred men, not to mention boys and horses, are now employed in shipping ice on the Kennebec river; a hundred vessels are loading there, and eleven tugs are employed in towing them to and from their landings.

Lincoln.

The proprietors of Mouse Island are contemplating the erection of a first class, four-story hotel, for the accommodation of summer visitors.

Somerset.

The Fall Term of the Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, begins Aug. 26th, 1876. Winter Term begins Nov. 6th, 1876. Spring Term begins Jan. 29th, 1877. Summer Term begins April 16th, 1877. Fall Term begins Aug. 20th, 1877.

There are fifteen new buildings being put up in Pittsfield,

Washington.

The Calais Times says the prevailing drought is very severe, and the growth of vegetation is almost at a standstill. Immediate and copious rains would now hardly benefit certain kinds of vegetables, while the yield of all has been terribly cut down. Even the corn, which delights in hot weather, is drying up, the bottom leaves in many places being entirely dead. The springs are drying, pasturage is failing, and disastrous results are feared.

York.

The church to be erected in South Berwick by the Universalists is to be upon a lot given them by the Messrs. Cummings, shoe manufacturers. These gentlemen have at their own expense laid the foundations and made contracts for the immediate erection and completion of the building.

The Press says that the Portland & Rochester depot was broken into at Alfred, Friday night, and two or three express packages, a trunk and about $5 in nickels and scrip taken. The same night the station at South Windham was entered and a bundle or two taken. Several cars were broken open and a few bags of grain stolen. At Springvale, the same night, a case of shoes waiting for shipment was carried off. Saturday night the house of Moses Gale of Alfred, was entered.

On Saturday last the house of C. F. Cleaves in Saco, was entered and $600 worth of jewelry, silver-ware and plated silver taken. There is no clue to the burglars.

AVOIDING HEN LICE.

These parasites breed and multiply in the filth and dirt in and about hen quarters. The manure should not be allowed to accumulate under the roosts and on the floors of the houses. It should be deodorized with dry earth or sifted coal ashes, or muck or plaster or other absorbent, and removed at least once a week, and deposited where fowls cannot gain access to it. This, when properly attended to, will be found to render the task of keeping down the lice much easier. The quarters including roosts, should be thoroughly whitewashed—say in April, July, September, and November. The wash should have some sulphur or kerosene incorporated with it, and if it be put on hot it will be better; it should be applied to every crack and cranny, no point being missed. The roost poles or perches should be removed, and all the bearings or points of contract should be especially treated, for it is in these same places that the "mites" are most at home. After a thorough application of the lime wash, the roosts should be well smeared with a mixture of lard or kerosene. The hen's natural resort to rid herself of lice is the dust bath. Where fowls are not at liberty to seek a suitable bath, it should always be furnished them in a sunny part of their house. It may consist of chip dirt, dry earth, sifted coal ashes, wood ashes, or a mixture of all of them together, with a little sulphur or Persian powder mixed with it. Even where fowls have their liberty it will be found beneficial to give them a dusting place, to which they will be sure to resort. It will never be necessary to catch and apply oil or grease of any kind to fowls to destroy lice, if the foregoing suggestions are put into practice. But where, from neglect or carelessness, the poultry are infested, it may be advisable—in order to destroy as soon as possible all traces of vermin—to apply some unguent or poison to the bodies of the fowls. For this purpose we would advise a mixture of lard and coal oil, heated together until thoroughly mixed, as the cheapest and most convenient article to use. If thought best a little sulphur may be mixed into the compound. To apply it catch the fowls at night, and with the finger smear a little of the preparation on the top of the head and under the lower mandible; then put a small quantity under each wing, and rub it in so that it will reach the skin; repeat the same operation between the body and thighs and about the root of the tail. One operation, if thoroughly performed, will be sufficient. The complaint that poultry keeping is unprofitable generally comes from the parties who neglect the small details of the business, which are so important in the comfort and profitableness of the flock. If the foregoing directions are put into practice, there will be little to apprehend on the score of lice.

FITTING THE SOIL.

I believe one of our greatest mistakes in farm business is made in our undue haste when sowing and cultivating crops. We are in so much hurry to get the seed into the ground that we do not take time to properly fit the soil for its reception. We plow the land, run a pulverizer or harrow over it once, sow or plant the seed, and cover it as quickly as possible. Sometimes we do not do as much as this. I have known a man to plow heavy land for oats, and sow the seed on the furrows. Of course the surface was very rough and broken—nothing but a succession of ridges and hollows and large clods—utterly unfit to receive the seed. But the farmer was in a hurry and could not stop to harrow the land before sowing. Planting is very often done on land that is not half fitted. And, as it would be natural to expect, a man who is not to much hurry to get his land in good order to plant is generally in too great haste to thoroughly cultivate the growing crop. He runs the cultivator or horse-hoe between the rows once or twice during the season, and thinks this is all he can afford to do. But here he makes a great mistake—one of the greatest mistakes which he can make in his whole business. By this course he greatly diminishes his crops and reduces his profits, for the profit of farm crops lies in a large yield per acre. A small yield only pays expenses. And it is the haste with which the land is prepared and the neglect which the crop receives which occasions the low yields of which so many farmers complain, and which bars the way to success in their business. I am convinced, both by experience and observation, that it is useless to run over our land. We ought not to plant more than we can cultivate thoroughly. If we have already got too large an area planted, let us hire extra help and cultivate the crop well. Another year we can plant less. Less planting and more cultivation would be a good motto for the average farmer. The soil contains many of the elements of plant food, but it must be pulverized before the crop can readily obtain them. The finer we make the soil, the nicer the bed in which to put the seed, the easier and faster the plants can obtain their food. This is a principle of which we have been slow to take the advantage, but one which we ought to understand and apply. It certainly lies at the very foundation of economical and successful cultivation.—Practical Farmer.

TOP DRESSING ORCHARDS.

The London Garden says: "Top dressing can be applied to orchard trees on grass with the perfect confidence that improved crops will follow, although the grass itself may be the first to show the benefit of top-dressing. There is before us an instance of an orchard of apple trees planted on thin gravelly soil; the trees were covered with moss and stunted, although not by any means old (about 25 years.) The grass of this orchard had been mown year after year for the sake of tidiness, thus exhausting the soil more than the trees did. A rather rough system of top-dressing was inaugurated at a sacrifice of appearances; all sorts of refuse material were wheeled or carted into the orchard and spread over the surface, such as sifted coal ashes, old decayed tan, the old soil and rubbish from the potting bench, sweepings and scrapings of roads, etc., until a considerable thickness of material had accumulated. The first result was a troublesome growth of grass, which was kept down with the scythe, but not cleared away—on the contrary, allowed to rot on the surface. By and by the trees began to emit quantities of young roots from the lower parts of their boles into the top-dressing, and the second result was, that the next crop of apples was considerably larger and of a much improved quality; the branches were severely thinned to admit light and air, well dusted with quick lime to remove moss and lichens, and they were amply repaid annually by this simple attention."

THE WINN AFFAIR.

We give elsewhere a report of the free excursion to Winn yesterday, which carried out the Foster-Brown programme for a bolt in this District The substance of the matter is that a few opinionated and discontented men in Bangor have made the slanders against Mr. Powers the pretext for an attempt to wreak vengeance on the Republican party and its leaders for failing to recognize their individual importance, these men by industrious solicitation have misled and induced some worthy citizens to countenance their movement, and joining hands with a cabal of Aroostook malcontents, who have no politics except hatred of Mr Powers, and who have been laboring against the Republican party for two or three years, they have worked up what they call a "mass-convention" which without pretense of credentials or balloting, has assumed to put forth a candidate for this District

The movement has been carefully nursed by the Democrats from its inception and while such unsuspecting gentlemen as Mr Wakefield, Mr Sabine and others have been assured that no treachery was involved we are credibly informed that the most frequent of the secret consultations at the office of Mr C P Brown one of the principal instigators of the bolt, have been between himself and such Democratic politicians as Hons Amos M Roberts and W H McCrillis, whose love for the Republican party is certainly not very ardent It is intimated also that the funds which enabled the liberal distribution of excursion tickets were furnished by the latter gentlemen as a good campaign disbursement in behalf of their own candidate, Mr Donworth

Notwithstanding the report of Mr Wakefield and young Mr Webb, who waited upon him to tender a nomination at the hands of Messrs Foster and Brown we are not prepared to believe that Hon Lyndon Oak will allow his name to be used for such a factious and mischievous purpose The gentlemen who went from this city had no authority to speak for, and in no sense represent the Republicans of this city, who will emphatically resent the assumption of the one or or two originators of this movement to dictate the affairs of this Congressional District The pretence of a junketing party of excursionists on free tickets to act in behalf of the Republicans of the Fourth District, unasked and unauthorized, is equally absurd and Mr Oak must perceive it, if, as we believe, he has hitherto been deceived as to the real character of the movement

The effect will be to stimulate the Republicans of the Old Fourth who do not want Mr Roberts' and Mr Emery's candidate, Donworth, to represent them in Congress, to put forth additional effort in behalf of the accredited Republican candidate, who has been assailed in an outrageous manner Mr Powers was honorably chosen by nearly two hundred out of two hundred and forty-three delegates, who were the peers in all respects of the men who rode to Winn, and his enthusiastic indorsement by an entirely distinct representative body, the recent County Convention demonstrated the factious and straggling character of the opposition to him

The Republicans of this District mean to be represented by a Republican, and they have long ago learned that operations favored and encouraged by Marcellus Emery and his ilk are not the kind for Republicans to favor The attempt to damage Mr. Powers is plainly in the interest of the Democratic programme for retaining control of Congress, and we have evidence on all hands of a determination of the Republicans of this District to give their regularly chosen candidate a rousing majority over all opposition, whether openly Democratic or disguised by a bolting candidacy. Men who are not satisfied to go into caucuses and conventions with their fellow citizens and abide by the decisions of the majority, cannot and will not rule this District

Change of Date.

It has been found necessary to transpose the dates of the mass-meetings in Bangor and Dover, so that the meeting in this city will be held Thursday, Aug 24th, and that in Dover, Friday, Aug 25th To accord with this the call for the Piscataquis Republican County Convention has been changed from the 24th to the 25th, so that the delegates may be present at the mass-meeting

MORE DEMOCRATIC EULOGY OF REBELS.

[From the Kennebec Journal]

The Democratic leaders and papers of Maine, emboldened by having a Presidential ticket nominated by and devoted to the representatives of the Confederate cause, begin to show forth more decidedly their "true inwardness" as regards the late rebellion and its ruling spirits

A few days ago the organ edited by the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, the Maine Standard, defended the South for sending leading ex rebels to Congress as Senators and Representatives, in the following language "Don't people "desire to select their ABLEST and BEST "men to represent them IN PEACE as well "as IN WAR? Do sensible people expect "the South to ignore their GREAT MEN "and NATURAL LEADERS and elect "unknown, inferior men, who were too "weak to be chosen leaders in war, or too "cowardly to serve as such?"

Following this burst of admiration for the leading ex-rebels from the head centre of the Democratic party in Maine came the eulogy of General Roberts, the late Democratic candidate for Governor, of the rebel General, Robert E. Lee And now we find the Bangor Commercial, in an editorial with the heading "Peace," and very suggestive of the peace Democracy of 1864 and the peace resolution adopted in the National Democratic Convention of that year, indorsing and defending General Roberts' Portland eulogy of the traitor General, and even enlarging it by additional adulatory sentiments from the editor's own pen. From that article we make the following extract.

"Now what does all this signify? Is the war ended? or are we still in a state of war? GEN. ROBERTS SPOKE WORDS OF TRUTH AND EVEN OF WISE STATESMANSHIP, WE MAY SAY. Are animosities between the North and South to be kept alive forever. Are we never to have peace? Gen. Roberts expressed the hope that the time would come when the Union Soldier would respect the character and devotion of Gen. Lee. Was it that sentiment of his brief speech that called forth the hisses and insults of the patriot soldiers gathered there, that were aimed at the speaker?

Gen. Lee was representative man of the South. If his chivalry and devotion can never be respected by Northern soldiers, then shall we look in vain for any elements of character among the millions of the South who directly or indirectly engaged in the war, which can ever receive their respect, and a resolution of a union of feeling between the North and South is as remote to-day as it was fifteen years ago

It should be remembered that GEN LEE, with the OTHER GREAT MILITARY CAPTAINS OF THE WORLD, is dead His character has been passed upon by the civilized world, and he has been assigned a high and honorable place in history. His character and place as a soldier cannot be affected by any acts of the Maine Soldiers' Association."

How many of the people of Maine are going to endorse and defend and eulogize Robert E Lee and other great traitors against the Government, by following the leaders of the Democratic party and voting the Democratic ticket? The 11th of September next will tell the story We trust it will give no comfort to Jeff Davis no support to the cause of Tilden and Hendricks, the candidates of the party which eulogizes and defends the arch rebels who were responsible for the horrors of the prison pens of the South

THE SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY

Mr Lord, a Democratic, member of the House, introduced a preamble and resolve a few days ago, simply declaring that all citizens are legally entitled to protection under the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and that in the judgment of the House all attempts by force or intimidation to prevent the exercise of the right of suffrage should be condemned, and that the guilty persons should receive prompt and effective punishment These were so utterly opposed to the sentiments of a large part of the Democrats, that they spent two hours filibustering against them but finally yielded their objections upon being informed that Tilden desired the passage of the preamble and resolve to help his ticket in the North

EDUCATING A GENERATION OF ASSASSINS "I believe the wisdom of the people will find a peaceful and constitutional remedy for the evils of the South, whether of administration or lawless outrage I do not agree with the gentleman from Mississippi that that remedy is to deliver the innocent into the power of the guilty, or that Congress should lay down its high functions to prevent crime at the demand of the criminals Do the Democrats of the South who are concealing apologizing for, abetting these crimes reflect that they are educating their young men to become a generation of assassins?"—Speech of Hon Geo F Hoar

The constitutional amendment for the protection of public schools, and forbidding the public appropriation of money for sectarian schools, was defeated in the Senate for the want of a two-thirds vote The vote stood 28 to 16, and was a strictly party vote All the Republicans voted for it and all the Democrats voted against it The fact that every Democratic Senator opposed such an amendment is significant

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

The Ohio correspondent of the New York Times says the Republican majority in that State will be 15,000 in October and 40 000 in November

Among the names of speakers enrolled for the campaign by the National Republican Committees are those of Mrs Devereaux Blake and Mrs Jane O. De Forest

The San Antonio Herald (Democratic) says "Truly is the State Government of Texas a curse, and its laws a mockery" The State Government is Democratic in all its branches

The Rochester Democrat remarks "When Thomas A Hendricks gives a note for ninety days he never dates it He doesn't believe in dates He thinks it better to slide gradually along toward pay ment raising no false hopes in the breast of his creditor And it is pleasant to reflect that the ninety days are always yet to come "

It is the opinion of the Lynchburg (Va) Star that Col Lamar s speech on the Hamburg riot was an insult to the whole South

"I think we will elect our men," said Confederate Colonel Rion, a member of the National Democratic Committee from South Carolina, to a reporter of the New York World, "for it has become a matter of life and death with us " And so, we suppose, the Democracy of that State have resolved to make it "a matter of life and death" to those who stand in their way

Warning from the Lynchburg (Va) Star The South Carolina negroes are getting their backs up They had better remember the fate of their brethren in Mississippi "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure "

When the keeper of an oyster house asks Proctor Knott if he will "have a Frye and a little old Hale," the Kentucky lawyer gazes savagely at him and without answering a word jams on his hat and seeks another feeding place.

The Boston Traveller says "One hundred thousand dollars and the use of the Springfield Republican to support the local candidates, is said to be the price offered by Congressman Chapin to the Democrats of his district if they will elect him to Congress. That is three times as much money as his first election cost him, but times have changed since 1874" Shame on the man who will make such an offer, and shame on the party and people who will support such a person.

Copperheads to the front is still their cry. The Democratic papers in Kentucky are recommending their candidate for Congress in the Ninth District because of "the bold stand he took in 1873, when it was dangerous for any man to oppose the party in power " Loyal men know what that means.

Twenty thousand Republicans are already enrolled in clubs in California. Mr Marcus D. Borock, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, expresses the opinion that Hayes and Wheeler will carry the State by 6,000 majority. He also says: "There are no Independents in the State The Republican party is fully united; all are in harmony; there are no malcontents."

A gang of laborers then rushed to Fitzpatrick's rescue. The old man Cody and his son James, with the laborers in their employ fled, leaving Patrick Cody facing the crowd with a revolver. They closed on him and he fired four shots, wounding James Clifford and John Haskin seriously, if not fatally. He then fled, but was captured by officer Jefferson. The other Codys were subsequently arrested. There was great excitement and the mob threatened to lynch the Codys. Fitzpatrick, Harkins and Clifford will probably die. A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

A Mother and Child Take their Own Lives—Their Bodies Found in a Pond.

A shocking tragedy occurred in Plymouth last Saturday. The wife and son of Leland Osborn of that place, were found dead in a pond, with scars on their foreheads, showing that death was caused by shooting.

About 5 o'clock that afternoon Mrs. Osborn told her grandmother that she was going into the garden to pick cucumbers. She afterwards sent her younger boy to the house with a lot of cucumbers, and went with another son to pick cedar for a broom. The husband returned about 7 o'clock and his wife and son had not then returned. He thought he had better look them up. The neighbors then began to be alarmed and went towards the pond with lanterns. Mr. Osborn had recently mailed a letter from his wife to her sister in Palermo, and believing that he might learn something of interest to him over there, he immediately proceeded to that place; but returned without hearing anything of importance. He then felt fully impressed that his wife must be in the pond.

The next morning (Sunday) he went down to the pond, and there the mystery revealed itself. He first found his son about three rods from the shore, standing up between bog lillies, his hair floating on the water. Mr. Osborn brought him to the shore, and near the shore he discovered the boy's hat and his wife's bonnet, on each side of a broom pick, and underneath that was a revolver with two chambers discharged. The boy was carried to the house and examined, and then he went back to search for his wife, whose body was found about a rod from where the boy was in about six feet of water.

There was a deep gash in Mrs. Osborn's head directly over the eye, which bled profusely. The boy bled profusely from his eyes and nose.

The pistol was one which Mrs. Osborn had obtained three months previous.

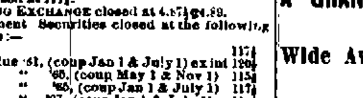
Mrs. Osborn was probably actuated by jealousy, and insanity was hereditary in the family, as her father had been in the insane asylum.

The boy was about twelve years old, and his mother was thirty-five years. There are two other children in the family.

The strangest thing of the whole tragedy is that Mr. Osborn seemed to manifest perfect indifference in regard to it.

Two physicians were called from Newport and made an examination of the bodies.

BUCKSPORT ABLAZE!



ENTHUSIASTIC DEMONSTRATION!

A GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY!

Wide Awake for the Campaign!

Addresses by Senator Blaine, Hon H. O. Pratt and C. H. Treat, Esq.

The campaign was opened in Bucksport yesterday afternoon and evening by the most enthusiastic demonstrations that the place has known for years. In the afternoon a grand flag-raising called out a large attendance, and an elegant mammoth campaign banner bearing the names of Hayes and Wheeler and Gov. Connor was thrown to the breeze amid hearty cheers. In the evening Emery's new hall, which has room for some fifteen hundred persons, was densely packed by an audience composed of the best people, including many ladies, to listen to the eloquent speakers announced. The hall was beautifully decorated with wreaths, flags and banners, the floral decorations being among the finest we have ever seen.

A special train conveyed over four hundred persons from Bangor and the towns on the line, including the Hayes and Wheeler Battalion of this city under command of Capt. E. E. Small, with torches and the Bangor Cornet Band, a company of seventy-five from Brewer, and others from the lower towns. The Bucksport Campaign Club with torches, acted as escort, and the streets through which the procession marched to the Hall, were illuminated with Chinese lanterns and decorated with flags. The sidewalks were crowded with people, and a great throng surrounded the Hall unable to gain admittance.

Hon. H. O. Pratt, of Iowa, was the first speaker, and was most cordially greeted. His address was a telling arraignment of the Democratic party in Congress, and he reviewed in a masterly manner the deceptive and insincere utterances of such ex-rebel politicians as Lamar and others. He was eagerly listened to throughout and made a strong impression upon the audience.

The appearance of C. H. Treat, Esq., of Bath, was warmly greeted, and on motion of Capt. Small he was chosen an honorary member of the Bangor Hayes and Wheeler Battalion, with ringing cheers. He spoke earnestly and effectively of the reasons which had constrained him to break away from his life-long Democratic associations; and the candid manner in which he stated the facts which had convinced him of the peril of intrusting the Democratic party with power, commanded the earnest sympathy of the audience. Mr. Treat is a fluent and graceful speaker, and it was evident throughout, that he had striven long to blind himself to the heresies of the party in which he was brought up, but had become convinced that he must leave it or surrender his self-respect and love of honesty and justice. His review of the inconsistencies of the Democracy on all the great issues of the times was forcible and effective, and he was frequently interrupted by applause.

Hon. James G. Blaine, who had been called to Augusta by the death of a nephew, arrived in this city with Mrs. Blaine on the evening train, and proceeded at once to Bucksport. He was received at the depot by the local committee, and a salute in his honor was fired on the approach of the train. His arrival was made known to the audience by the applause which began in the street, and which burst into ringing cheers as he was conducted upon the platform. At the close of Mr. Treat's remarks, Mr. Blaine was introduced by the Chairman, and was again enthusiastically greeted, when he proceeded at once to a discussion of the political issues of the campaign. He has improved much in health during the past few weeks, and although still somewhat pale, spoke with all his old-time fervor and eloquence. His arraignment of the Confederate House of Representatives was masterly and his presentation of the vital issues of the canvass brought them vividly to the mind of every hearer. The audience followed his graphic sentences with rapt attention and repeatedly broke into cheers of approval. As the gentlemen will speak in Bangor on Friday evening, we have not attempted to report their addresses, which were full of power and eloquence.

The audience hung upon Mr. Blaine's words to the close with intense interest, and were eager for more. When the meeting adjourned the speakers were escorted to the hotel by the torch-light procession headed by the Bangor Band, and the procession afterward paraded the streets, which were thronged with people. Mr. Blaine was waited upon at the Hotel by a large number of citizens and received the heartiest congratulations and expressions of esteem. He and the other speakers will drive over to Ellsworth to-day, where a meeting is to be held this afternoon.

The visiting delegations were escorted to the depot, and as the train left rousing Republican cheers were exchanged. On arrival in this city after midnight the battalion marched to headquarters to the music of the Band, and the WHIG & COURIER was kindly complimented by hearty cheers as the line passed our office.

All the arrangements were admirably carried out by the Republican Committee of Bucksport. The occasion was one of the most enthusiastic of any political campaign, and Bangor and Bucksport have mutually exchanged assurances that their Republicans are "wide awake and mean business."

THE WINN EXCURSION.

The Free Tickets in Small Demand—Reformers Putting Through a Cut-and-Dried Programme—Credentials and Balloting Dispensed With—Mr. Oak Declared the Candidate—Mr Donworth's New Allies.

Yesterday occurred the mass meeting at Winn, for which a call had been issued in the North Star and Houlton Times. Excursion tickets were issued by the E. & N. A. Railway company, and on arriving at the depot our reporter found that they were free to any who would go, and were distributed principally by C. P. Brown, Esq. The train started at the regular hour and no accessions were received up to the arrival at Oldtown, where the Piscataquis train was waiting, having come down two hours ahead of time to connect with the train from this city, but no person bound for Winn came on it. No more persons for Winn got on the train until its arrival at Lincoln, where a number of people came on board. Among the number from this city were several who are Democrats and support the Democratic nominees, and others who said they went for the pleasure of the trip.

On arriving at Winn the party were met by a portion of those who came down from Aroostook and all went to the hotel in which is "Katahdin Hall," a cozy little place capable of holding on a squeeze five hundred persons or thereabouts. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Weatherbee of Lincoln, who nominated Mr. M. H. Angell, Esq., of this city, for chairman. Mr. Angell came forward and on taking the chair addressed the meeting, closing his remarks with aspersions of Mr. Powers's reputation.

On motion of J. B. Foster, Esq., Amasa Howe of Presque Isle, and John R. Mason of Bangor, were chosen Secretaries.

On motion of Hon. A. G. Wakefield, the chairman appointed W. H. Smith of Bangor, Moses Abbott of Etna, A. W. Weatherbee of Lincoln, Vice-Presidents. On motion of F. M. Sabine, Esq., the chair appointed F. M. Sabine, J. W. Donigan, William Small, John S. Kimball and Thomas Plaisted a committee on resolutions. On motion of C. P. Brown, Esq., David Dudley, Esq., was added to the committee.

C. P. Brown said as all wished to proceed to business, and as Aroostook should have the most to say in the choice of a candidate for Congress, he moved that those from Aroostook retire for consultation, which they did.

A. L. Simpson, Esq., moved a committee of three be chosen by the chair to prepare an address to the people, and Hon. A. G. Wakefield, F. G. Parker and J. W. Donigan were appointed.

On motion of C. P. Brown, Esq., the chair appointed Hon. John B. Foster, Noah Barker and J. Donnell an Executive Committee, and the meeting adjourned for dinner.

On assembling at 1 P. M. the temporary organization was made permanent. Mr. Parker said those from Aroostook had no claims to urge, but would support whoever should be nominated. Noah Barker then presented the name of Lyndon Oak, as candidate for Congress, and moved the nomination be made by acclamation. C. P. Brown, Esq., moved that the vote be taken by rising, which was done, all rising, even spectators, many of whom were Democrats. No credentials were asked or presented, and every man in the hall was at liberty to vote, and all—save one Democrat from this city—rose at the call.

On motion of C. P. Brown, Esq., F. J. Parker, Noah Barker and W. J. Webb were appointed a committee to notify Mr. Oak of the action of the meeting.

Mr. Foster called for C. P. Brown, Esq. and he addressed the meeting, devoting the principal part of his remarks to a criticism of Mr. Powers' reputation. Mr. Foster followed in the same strain, if anything speaking more harshly than Mr. Brown. David Dudley was called for, but excused himself and called for Capt. Moses Rose, who devoted himself to Mr. Powers, Dr. Tefft and Mr. Stickney of the Sunrise.

F. M. Sabine, Esq., reported five resolutions, the first to the effect that the existence and maintenance of an undivided Government is due to the Republican party; second that they would support no man whose "character and reputation" is not sufficient evidence that he is true to the questions of honesty, temperance and chastity; third, repelling the charge of being bolters; fourth, endorsing the nominees of the Cincinnati Convention, and Governor Connor; fifth, endorsing Mr. Oak.

J. W. Donigan, spoke next, reflecting upon Mr. Powers, Mr. Stickney and Dr. Tefft. Henry Hill spoke after him and was followed by Noah Barker, Washington Long of Presque Isle, John S. Kimball, Hon. A. G. Wakefield, and A. L. Simpson. Mr. Angell made a few remarks, thanking the meeting for the honor conferred upon him, and a motion to adjourn was carried.

All the speakers save Messrs. Wakefield and Hill were especially severe in their attacks on Mr. Powers, Mr. Stickney and Dr. Tefft, but none more so than Mr. Foster, Mr. Brown and Mr. Kimball. Cheers were called for the Republican nominees for President and Vice President, for Mr. Blaine, Governor Connor, and as the audience was passing out of the hall Mr. T. M. Plaisted called for cheers for "the thinking, honest Republicans of the fourth Congressional District," which were given.

As to the number present, estimates and counts made by different persons place the total presence at between two and three hundred, a large number being spectators drawn out by curiosity, especially those who are Democrats. Parties who participated in the doings of the meeting say that 100 were present from Bangor, 25 from Lincoln and 75 from Aroostook, making a total of 200 participants. From and including Bangor to Winn 90 excursion tickets were taken up, and allowing Aroostook 75 as claimed, the total number of participants is 165, a discrepancy of 35. These are the figures as given our reporter, who estimates the largest number present at any one time at precisely 300 persons in all.

Dedicatory Exercises.

On Tuesday of this week True Friendship Lodge No. 43, Sovereigns of Industry, dedicated their new hall at Cole's Corner, in Winterport, with the following exercises: Speech of welcome, by George D. Shaw, President of the Order; prayer by Rev. Wm. Shaw; formal address by J. M. Long, Esq., of Brooks, State Lecturer, followed by brief speeches by C. P. Roberts, Esq., of Bangor, O. H. Hinckley and John Phillips of Hampden, Hon. T. Cushing, Aaron Black, Rev. W. S. Shaw and N. D. Littlefield, of Winterport.

Among the more interesting features of the day were the two addresses delivered in and exceedingly clear and happy manner, by Mrs. Henry O. Snow of Winterport and Mrs. John Phillips of Hampden. They were listened to with much interest and loudly applauded.

The exercises were frequently interspersed with very acceptable music by Mrs. N. E. Hall and others.

The new hall has been built and fitted up with every necessary convenience for the use of the above Council, at a cost of about $1,000, all of which has been paid.

At the close of the dedicatory exercises the President cordially invited the large company present into the dining room of the hall, where some four hundred hungry bodies were were filled with substantial food and with the countless delicacies that were so liberally furnished by the generous ladies of Cole's Corner.

True Friendship Lodge was organized the present year and it is in a flourishing condition. The following is a list of its officers: George D. Shaw, President; Mrs. Henry O. Snow, Vice President; C. J. Treat, Secretary; Henry O. Snow, Treasurer; Rev. W. S. Shaw, Chaplain; Aaron Black, Secretary; Mrs. F. Coles, Steward; Mrs. L. M. Frederick, Assistant Steward; R. W. Closon, Outer Guard; Mrs. John Cole, Inner Guard.

HUNT'S REMEDY is not a new compound, it has been before the public more than twenty years, and extensively used by all classes, both with and without the advice of a physician. ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE.

Almost every day the papers chronicle the suicide of some poor unfortunate whose mind has been enfeebled by dyspepsia, over whose earthly horizon a heavy gloom has gathered from the untold and untellable agonies of this cruel complaint. Dyspepsia is one of the most depressing diseases afflicting humanity. It is cosmopolitan in its nature—no country is exempt from its visitations, no family free from its attacks. There is a balm in Gilead; it comes in the shape of the PERUVIAN SYRUP. For years it has been scattering its blessings abroad. There is, probably, no disease which experience has so amply proved to be remediable by the PERUVIAN SYRUP as Dyspepsia. The most inveterate forms of this disease have been completely cured by this medicine, as ample testimony of many of our first citizens prove.

THE "TIP TOP."

This Joint is pronounced by all who have seen it, to be the BEST ARRANGEMENT for tipping the top of a Carriage Umbrella that has been offered to the public, its merits placing it so far ahead of all others as to leave it without a competitor!

It is applied to the stick about twenty inches below the top of the Umbrella, thus bringing the joint high enough to allow of the top being inclined in any direction and at any angle, without inconveniencing the occupants of the carriage. This is one of the DECIDED ADVANTAGES of this invention over all others.

It is no larger than the stick, thus allowing the runner to slide up and down, freely, over it.

It is very simple in its construction and operation, and can be easily changed to any direction.

It can be applied to any Umbrella in a few minutes, as it is only necessary to saw the stick apart and fit the ends to the sockets of the Joint.

It is made of the best malleable iron, and forms the strongest part of the stick.

It weighs only one and one-half pounds, making it by far the lightest mechanism in use for tipping Umbrellas.

It has all the advantages of other inventions, with none of the objections applicable to them, and costs only about half as much!

In connection and for use with our Joint, we have the best Foot Piece, for holding the Umbrella in position, that there is in the market. This consists of a socket and point fitting the same, and, being self-fastening, takes no time to secure it.

By the use of this Joint the practical value of a Carriage Umbrella for protection is increased more than two hundred per cent., and no one will be without it after seeing its advantages.

By its use all the protection afforded by a covered carriage is obtained, while the air has free circulation all around.

It will be found useful in all kinds of open vehicles, for farmers, professional men, for boats, for sea-shore and artists' use, and ladies' and gentlemen's pleasure phaetons. For shelter at the sea shore it is very valuable. In short, it enhances the value of Umbrella protection wherever it is used.

"LAISSEZ LA VERDURE"

THE LAST WORDS OF GEORGE SAND

BY MARY B. DODGE.

Saying "Laissez la Verdure"
Died her daring soul away,
From its cerebral shape of clay;
Craved she grasses, sweeter truer
Than Art's tributes, o'er the bed
Waiting for her fame-crowned head,
Saying, "Laissez la Verdure."

Of a smaller heart and brain
She had sought a smarter pile
Friends' remembrance to beguile
But she rather felt disdain
For the tarren shaft and cross,
Blatant of repaired loss
Of a smaller heart and brain.

"Laissez la Verdure," she sighed,
While they thought her mind astray,
May her vision keen always,
Saw beyond their narrow pride
Spires eternal in the sod—
Latent there, the smile of God—
"Laissez la Verdure," she sighed

Poet—to the latest breath
Woman—manifest at last,
Passion's vortex overpast:
Ah, we see her soul in death
Loyal to the woman's grace
That her name could not efface—
Poet, to the latest breath

Listen "Laissez la Verdure—
This, her volume's latest theme
Is no mere romancer's dream,
At the bourn she knew the pure
From the false, and gave the key
To love's gentlest ministry
Listen—"Laissez la Verdure."

"Laissez la Verdure" resounds
Wherever er her words attain,
Peace is so the calm refrain—
Art, the best, knows mortal bounds,
But the herbage is reborn,
And from out the mists of morn
"Laissez la Verdure" resounds
—New Century for Women.
